Leo — Class 17

Off the Clock

#121–130 — where work ends, and where it doesn't.

A Different Kind of Question

We've been in work mode

Three classes of setbacks, disagreements, and interviews.

지난 세 수업은 전부 업무 얘기였어요 — 실패, 이견, 면접 질문.

Today's question

How do you keep work from taking over?

오늘은 일과 삶을 어떻게 나누는지 — 아니, 나누려고 하는지.

Why it still matters

Teams ask this — they've seen what burnout costs.

면접에서도 나와요. 지속가능한 페이스는 실리콘밸리 팀의 실제 관심사예요.

Your Rules, on a Good Week

잘 돌아가는 주의 경계 — 시간, 스위치, 알림, 주말, 그리고 예외.

121 I try to log off by ~ ~까지는 로그아웃하려고 해요
"I try to log off by seven most days."

122 Once I close the laptop, ~ 노트북을 닫으면 ~
"Once I close the laptop, I don't open it again."

123 I don't check ~ after ~ ~ 이후엔 ~를 안 봐요
"I don't check Slack after dinner."

124 Weekends are for ~ 주말은 ~를 위한 시간이에요
"Weekends are for anything that isn't a screen."

125 It depends on how ~ things are ~ 상황이 어떤지에 따라 달라요
"It depends on how busy things are that week."

NOW YOU Your real week — 121→125, in order.

The Weeks That Break the Rules

경계가 무너질 때 — 인정하고, 대처법으로 닫아요.

126 Some weeks that goes out the window 어떤 주는 그게 다 소용없어져요
"But some weeks all of that goes out the window."

127 I catch myself -ing 나도 모르게 ~하고 있더라고요
"I catch myself checking Slack in bed."

128 It's hard to switch off when ~ ~일 땐 스위치가 잘 안 꺼져요
"It's hard to switch off when something's broken in production."

129 What helps is ~ 도움이 되는 건 ~예요
"What helps is writing tomorrow's list before I leave."

130 I've gotten better at ~ ~는 예전보다 나아졌어요
"I've gotten better at letting the small stuff wait."

NOW YOU A week that broke your rules — 126→130.

“How do you keep work from taking over?”

121→130, 한 번에. Brian은 면접관이 아니라 그냥 대화 상대예요.

- 1 On a good week 121–124 — 내 규칙들
- 2 But it depends 125 — 현실적인 단서
- 3 And then some weeks... 126–128 — 무너질 때
- 4 What actually helps 129–130 — 대처와 변화

Brian asks back: “Does that actually work?” · “When was the last time you really unplugged?”

Before We Finish

The honest version

완벽하게 분리한다고 말하는 건 거짓말처럼 들려요. 무너질 때를 인정하는 게 더 강해요.

The count

누적 #130 — 업무 축 세 회차 뒤의 환기였어요.

This week

L&S로 통째 흐름 반복 — 이걸 요약하기 쉬운 답변이에요.

Great work today, Leo!
