WARM-UP

Catching Up

How was the journey back from Italy?

Just to inform you early — samples went out Monday.

Anything new on your side since we last talked?

Answer in full sentences — this is already the lesson.

Opening the Conversation

I was just thinking about ~ 마침 ~ 생각하던 참이었어요

"I was just thinking about your trip abroad."

How did ~ turn out? ~는 어떻게 됐어요?

"How did the fitting with the new sole turn out?"

We've been hearing a lot about ~ 요즘 ~ 얘기 많이 들려요

"We've been hearing a lot about finance costs going up."

How's ~ treating you? ~는 쓸 만해요? / 잘돼 가요?

"How's the new cutting device treating you?"

Say hi to ~ for me ~한테 안부 전해줘요

"Say hi to your partner for me."

ROLEPLAY 1

The First Five Minutes

Scene. Your Autry contact calls before the season kicks off. No orders on the table yet — just two people who work together, catching up.

Round 1 Brian calls — open with two Checking In lines.

Round 2 Switch — Brian opens, you keep the talk alive for two minutes.

Talking Business Without Numbers

Everyone's talking about ~ 다들 ~ 얘기예요

"Everyone's talking about insurance costs these days."

On our end, we're seeing ~ 우리 쪽에선 ~가 보여요

"On our end, we're seeing more careful ordering."

I wouldn't be surprised if ~ ~해도 놀랍지 않아요

"I wouldn't be surprised if prices calm down next quarter."

Between you and me, ~ 우리끼리 얘기지만 ~

"Between you and me, next season looks busy."

Either way, we'll be ready 어느 쪽이든 준비돼 있을 거예요

"Either way — definitely ready."

ROLEPLAY 2

From Weather to Market

Scene. Same call, ten minutes in. The small talk turns to the market — costs, the next season, what you're both seeing.

Round 1 Brian raises a market topic — respond with Part 2 lines.

Round 2 Full run: greet, check in, read the market, close warmly.

WRAP

Why This Matters

Deals get signed at the table.
Partnerships get built in the five minutes before it.

Next time: Autry places the reorder — quotes, lead times, and a little push and pull.
