First Visit: The New Export Manager

Ramey's new export manager lands in Seoul at the end of October. It's her first time here. You're the host.

PART 1

Who's Coming

새 수출 담당자 . 누구이고 , 뭘 보고 싶어 할지 , Lisa 는 뭘 얻어야 하는지 .

QUESTIONS

- Who is he, and what do you know about him so far?
- It's his first time in Korea. What will his want to see — and what will he be curious about?
- What is the one thing you must get out of this visit?
- Who at Ramey will he report back to?

WHAT WE KNOW ABOUT RAMEY NOW

- Family winery, Healdsburg, since 1996 — about 25–30k cases, ~20 staff
- Since 2021: Claire (vineyards, estate) and Alan (marketing, trade, operations) are co-presidents
- A new export manager at a company this size most likely reports to Alan
- David Ramey always kept an eye on export — Korea on a first trip is not an accident

PART 2

The Briefing

처음 만난 첫 시간 . 자기소개 → 한국 시장 3 분 → 한국에서 Ramey 가 서 있는 자리 .

HE MIGHT ASK · BRIAN PLAYS HIS

- How does the Russian River Chardonnay do at Korean retail?
- Is there room for Westside Farms Estate at $85 in the KR?
- Would Sidebar work here, or would it confuse the brand?
- Who's our competition on the Korean shelf?
- What do Korean customers react to first — the label, the score, or the price?
- Which store would impress him most, and why?

WHAT WE KNOW ABOUT RAMEY NOW

- Russian River Chardonnay 2023: US retail ~$50, Decanter 95 — the value story
- Westside Farms Estate Chardonnay 2023: $85, the family's own vineyard — the pride story
- Sidebar Cellars: the second label for younger drinkers, lower price
- Style has not changed: whole-cluster press, native yeast, unfiltered — restraint
