This Week

Ramey's new export manager is in Korea from this week until early next. Not how to handle it — just what you're doing, and what you're hoping for.

What I'm Actually Preparing

실제로 하고 있는 것만 골라요 . 1·2·3 순위를 매기고 , 왜 그 순서인지 .

- Which wines to pour, and in what order
- Restaurant bookings — which one for which night
- The order of account visits
- Interpreting — the words I'm not sure of
- Market numbers he'll ask about
- A gift, and what it should say
- A list of questions I want to ask him
- Tasting the competition before he does
- Briefing my own team
- The route through our shop and warehouse
- Price sheets in English
- Hotel, transport, the small logistics

THEN Which one is taking the most time? · Which one did you nearly skip? · Which one would a conventional importer never bother with?

FROM YOUR WORDS · 지난주 단어 conventional · comprehensive

Looking Forward To · Nervous About

각각 하나씩 고르고 이유 . 없으면 직접 말해요 .

MOST LOOKING FORWARD TO

- A Tasting the new vintages with the person who made the calls
- B Hearing how Ramey sees Korea from the outside
- C Finally putting a face to all those emails
- D Showing him the accounts that took years to open
- E A dinner where nobody talks about work
- F Getting a straight answer on allocation
- G Seeing which wine he's proudest of
- H Watching him taste Korean food for the first time

MOST NERVOUS ABOUT

- A Interpreting when a customer asks something controversial
- B A question about numbers I don't have in my head
- C Running out of things to say in the car
- D Him asking why a wine isn't selling
- E Keeping the conversation continuous for a whole day
- F My team's English in front of him
- G Him being more formal than I expect
- H Something going wrong that isn't anyone's fault

THEN Why that one and not the others? · If the nervous one happens — what's your first sentence?

Five Questions I'll Ask Him

그 사람한테 물어볼 다섯 개 . 보기에서 골라도 되고 새로 써도 돼요 . Brian 이 적어요 .

TEN TO CHOOSE FROM

1. What does Korea look like from Healdsburg — a big market, or a small one with potential?
2. Which of your wines do you think we're underselling here?
3. How do you decide allocation when every market wants more?
4. What did the previous export manager tell you about us?
5. Is there a wine you'd pull from the Korean list — and why?
6. How do you want to hear bad news from us — email, call, or wait for the next visit?
7. What do American sommeliers say about Ramey that we never hear?
8. Which markets are growing fastest for you right now?
9. What would make Korea a top-five market for Ramey?
10. If you could change one thing about how we present the wines, what would it be?
