At the Gym

No clients today — just you, the weights, and easy English.

W A R M - U P

Your Gym Life

Tell me in Korean first if you like — then we'll build the English together.

How often do you go?

And what time — morning or after work?

What are you working on these days?

Chest, legs, cardio — what's your focus?

Why do you keep going?

Stress? Health? Or just the habit now?

Four Things You'd Actually Say

Someone is on the machine you want. Here's how it goes — short and simple.

Are you using this?

이거 쓰고 계세요?

How many sets do you have left?

몇 세트 남으셨어요?

Can I work in?

(세트 사이에) 같이 번갈아 써도 될까요?

All yours.

다 썼어요, 쓰세요

 Try it: Brian is on the bench press. Walk over and get your turn — all four, in order.

“Can I work in?” — every gym in the world understands this one. 🌍

Three Ways to Say What You Do

The small talk part — and the same patterns work outside the gym too.

I work out four times a week. 일주일에 네 번 운동해요

 같은 패턴으로: I work out before work. · I work out at a gym near my office.

It's leg day. / I'm doing chest today. 오늘은 하체 하는 날이에요 / 오늘은 가슴 해요

 같은 패턴으로: It's arm day. · I'm doing cardio today.

I'm trying to lose weight. 살을 빼려고 하는 중이에요

 같은 패턴으로: I'm trying to build muscle. · I'm trying to eat better.

 Now tell me about your week at the gym — use all three.

Three More — The Honest Ones

Sore, lazy, back at it. This is how people really talk about training.

I'm sore from yesterday. 어제 운동해서 (근육이) 빠근해요

 같은 패턴으로: My legs are sore. · I'm sore all over.

I skipped last week. 지난주엔 (운동을) 걸렀어요

 같은 패턴으로: I skipped breakfast. · I skipped the gym yesterday.

I'm getting back into it. 다시 시작하는 중이에요

 같은 패턴으로: I'm getting back into running. · I'm getting back into studying English.

 Gym encouragement: "Nice work!" · "Good job, man." · "Keep it up!"

ROLEPLAY

A Morning at the Gym

One scene, start to finish. Ten expressions, one workout. 🎬

1 • You want the bench

Brian is finishing his sets — ask, wait, take your turn.

2 • He asks about your routine

“Do you come here every day?” — tell him your schedule and today's focus.

3 • You compare notes

He's sore, you skipped last week — be honest about it.

4 • Wrap it up

One word of encouragement, and off you go. “Nice work!”

No clients, no contracts — nothing to lose. Just talk. 😊
